This full scholarship program will cover the round-trip economy flight fares, tuition, accommodation fees, textbooks, insurance and living allowances for the awardees, who are obligated to return to and work in Palau upon the completion of the program.

The Embassy further has the honor to request the Ministry to assist in disseminating this scholarship information and recommending qualified nominees, who are required to possess a bachelor degree or above and complete online applications on both websites of ISU (<http://enroll.isu.edu.tw/enroll/dp/>) and ICDF (http://web.icdf.org.tw/ICDF\_TSP/WelcomeStart.aspx) before the application deadline. Written exams on three subjects including biology, chemistry and English are scheduled to be conducted on April 21, 2017, while an oral exam via Skype or internet telephone is scheduled on April 26-27, 2017, both taking place in the venue of the Embassy.
